On 9th October, Johnboy, the German Heavy Rock trio will release their new studio album State Of The Art on Timezone. The album, which contains eleven tracks, was once more produced completely independently in the band's own studio. It was ultimately optimized by the legendary Krautrock musician and mastering engineer EROC, who the band also worked with in some of their previous album productions.

"Pure Heavy Sound" since 2005

Johnboy is a power trio which stands for modern Heavy Rock, dynamic catchy riffs combined with fat guitar tone, driving rhythms and melodious choruses that get stuck easily without being intrusive to the ear.

In 2005 the band was formed with the objective to make simple but powerful rock music. Since then the trio have constantly developed their style, always holding on to and expanding on their independent originality.

The previous album Custom, which the band released in January 2013, was distributed single-handedly. The German ROCK HARD magazine voted it "Demo album of the month" (April 2011).

„Every gig has to be hard work“

Despite its minimalist lineup, the band is ready to fill every stage with maximum performance – both musically and visually.

Either on club or on festival stages, either as headliner or as supporting act – for example for NEW MODEL ARMY, ZODIAC or NITROGODS, the band has achieved a good reputation for live performances. Their passionate commitment, musical enthusiasm and joy of performance make every show an unforgettable authentic live event for the audience.

With the publication of „State Of The Art “ on Timezone, Johnboy make their label debut, presenting eleven punchy songs, which have been inspired by a wide variety of artists that have contributed to the spirit of Rock music; but they don't tread beaten tracks or fall into the trap of common clichés.

Those who enjoy modern hand-made Heavy Rock, should not miss out on Johnboy.
